AN event of very considerable importance to Provo is very near at hand. It is the convening of the annual session of the grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. of the territory here on Tuesday next April 17th. This will be the first time the grand lodge has met anywhere in the territory outside of Salt Lake.

The session will last four days, and there will be present in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty representatives of the various lodges throughout the territory. They will be met at the depot by the Provo lodge, No. 14, and a band, and taken to the theatre where a reception will be tendered them by representative citizens. The sessions will be held in I. O. O. F. lodge hall in the Reed Smoot block. After all business is over there will be the usual banquet and general good time. Among the important items of business to transact is the determining of the location of the Old Fellows' home and the appropriation of money for its erection.

The Spy of Atlanta

It was a handsome audience that turned out last evening to witness "The Spy of Atlanta" at the opera house.

The drama is a thrilling one and it was well represented. Of course among the people who sustained the minor characters were some entirely new to the stage and in consequence there were some few "hitches." But to see the old veterans, many of them scarred and lame from actual fighting in the late war, upon the stage in sham battle, and going over again in imitation the horrors of prison life that some of them experienced years ago in reality, was a most affecting scene and proclaimed a feeling in the hearts of the audience such as no pen can describe.

Of the actors of course only words of praise can be said in speaking of W. H. and C. H. Belcher. W. H. as the spy was indeed good. The line of work in which he shines best and as a star, however, was indicated when he was disguised as an Irishman—a spy in the rebel camps. He is first and above all a comedian. So is his brother who gave the very best of satisfaction as Caleb Calvert who was "no" gentleman, but a Yankee all over. D. O. Waid was Jacob Schneider was indeed a great surprise to all. Had there been no programs in the audience, his best and most intimate friends would not have known him. Bob Cunningham never did better work in his life as he did representing the negro Pete. A. Ether of Springfield as a rebel captain and a deep dyed villain proved himself an able actor. Miss Stella Jacques' work was such that lady always does upon the stage—flashed and entirely satisfactory to the audience. Others in the cast are deserving of special mention, but space today forbids a more detailed criticism of the performance.

Properly Considered.

From the Salt Lake Herald: We notice that the Provo Dispatch is coming to our view and policy of dealing with journalistic personal blackguardism. When papers prove themselves so vile and false and utterly unprincipled as to be beneath recognition, the best thing to do is to leave them severely alone. There is an animal which everybody despises but with which nobody wants to come in contact. There is no sense in the collision, though there may be sufficient grounds. We think The Dispatch is strong enough and well enough established in the confidence of the Provo people, to let its depraved defamers lie on without deigning to honor them even with a kick.

THE SMOOT CASE.

"Veritas" Takes Issue With the Salt Lake Tribune's Unfair Report of It and Sets Forth Some Facts.

Provo, Utah, April 12.—Correspondence DISPATCH:—I take notice in today's Salt Lake Tribune what purports to be a synoptical report of the case tried last night, Utah territory vs. A. O. Smoot Jr., et al, which is so very unfair that it is a matter of doubt whether it is not libelous. It is so full of misstatements that it is impossible to gather the truth from it. If the case, as the Tribune says, had been so planned by the territory that Mr. Smoot's credit could have been allowed during the whole period of his collection, it would have been found that instead of him being short at the time of his resignation in 1887 he had paid not only upwards of a thousand dollars more than he collected but that he had paid more than could legally have been charged against him. But he was only permitted to show the auditor's omissions to credit him in the year 1887. Had the auditor's books been examined for previous years the result would have been that there was no cause of action against Mr. Smoot. A comparison of the books kept by the clerk of Utah county with him with those of the auditor will establish this fact conclusively. But this is like everything else in Utah, in some people's estimation, there is nothing good outside of Salt Lake. The county clerk of Utah county is all right as an agent to get funds for the territory, but it is all wrong when it gives just credits to anybody who doesn't live in Salt Lake city.

VERITAS.

In early times what is now Ireland was called Scotia, and its inhabitants were known as Scotti, or Scots. A branch of this Scotch stock invading north Britain ultimately gave its name to all of what is now Scotland.

Golf is spoken, it seems, without sounding the "L." English folk call it "gowf," and if we import the game it is only proper that we should import the pronunciation.

It is a very lazy man who will not take the trouble to reverse his cigar when he finds that he has put the lighted end of it by mistake into his mouth.

The Evolution of the ideal agents is gradually relegating the old-time herbs, pills, draughts and vegetable extracts to the rear and bringing into general use the pleasant and effective liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs. To get the true remedy see that it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only. For sale by all leading druggists.

Lost a Leg

Blood Poisoned by a Slight Accident

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Purified, and Restored Health.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:"

"Gentlemen:—Three years ago a file penetrated one of my legs just above the knee. I was some distance from a doctor and the wound was not properly dressed. Failing to receive the necessary treatment,

Blood Poisoning set in. I became so weak and my system so much run down that I could not turn in bed or help myself in any way. After seventeen months' confinement, my wife took me to Walla Walla, Wash. Here the surgeons amputated my leg half way between the knee and the hip. Following this my health improved slightly but shortly thereafter began to form on my body and caused me much pain and suffering. Several remedies were tried but did not give me relief. Finally Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and

I could see a change from the first. Gradually I have improved; I am growing stronger and the painful gatherings have disappeared and I am about cured of my ills. All the credit is due to Hood's Sarsaparilla and I feel that I cannot speak too highly of it." B. L. BURNETT, Starkey, Oregon.
